

Don't mess with the current law. I would hate to have to take my phone off of the hook again. Sometimes my little boy answers the phone. I do not want him talking to strangers that are asking where his parents are. That makes me very nervous. Also, we always get these calls when we are in the middle of doing something like dinner, homework, showers, family time and sex. We have very busy lives and don't need the phone ringing all of the time for no good reason!

Brian K. Robinson